“ Dear Alexis, I know you are enjoying your beautiful and amazing forever life in God’s Magnificent Kingdom. I can clearly see your happiness, your joy, and your peace while you are surrounded by the purest love that is only known and given by Our Lord and Savior. I will always treasure the calls I received from you as you were growing into the wonderful young lady you became. I remember so well listening to you tell me your dreams and plans for an exciting and fun life. Alexis, you truly have a beautiful heart and soul. I will always treasure the love we both have for animals, especially kitty cats. You sure did love Dallas, “Big D”, my nickname for him. I know he ran to you immediately and jumped up into your lap to give you lots of kisses. I can only imagine how beautiful Spring must be in Heaven and how much fun you are having while enjoying the beauty with all the loved ones celebrating in Heaven. Alexis, I chose a green candle to light because green represents new growth, abundance, and everything turns green in the Spring. It is a time where everything comes alive and blooms with fabulous colors and fantastic new growth. Just like you are discovering all the love, happiness, joy, laughter, smiles, and peace that is forever yours beautiful lady. Enjoy sliding down that huge golden slide, enjoy riding that great carousel that has all the different animals and sleds that gently takes you around and around while viewing all the beauty that Heaven contains, enjoy all the love, hugs, and kisses from loved ones, and enjoy all the love that God, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit will shower you with each and everyday forever. I will see again my beautiful lady 🙏❤️🌈🌟🐱😘
I love you Alexis

“ 30 years is a long time to be by someone side. 30 years just wasn't enough time with you. I remember the day you held Jane for the first time. I always knew she had you forever. She's so broken without you. I'm so broken without you. I miss you so much it physically hurts to move.
