“ I remember the first day we became neighbors. Dean and Brenda came over to introduce themselves and I immediately recognized Dean and called out his name before he could say it. He was shocked that I remembered him coming to my parent’s house in the mid 60s. Brenda was so sweet and became one of my wife’s best friends from that day up until her passing. Now we have two friends back together again in heaven to watch over us. Rest in peace
Brenda
You are dearly missed !

“ Sometimes we meet people in a very round-about way and immediately know that you will enjoy their friendship. This was true with Brenda. Luckily we got to have at least one luncheon together to talk about our various "6th degrees of separation" friendship. Trying always to get together but never quite able to arrange a date. I'll miss her on Facebook and her uplifting look at life. I'll miss knowing she is with us here on earth but celebrate she is now with others who loved her and all the ailments of this earth are no longer causing her discomfort. Looking forward to seeing her again one of these days. Mary Ann Underwood
