“ The loss of a child in any circumstance is difficult for any parent. Donna, I'm so so sorry. Brian spoke well of you this summer. After hiring him to help me with painting our home, summer happened in the middle of him working here and doing things for you. I shared with him, that we would be fine.....along with you and that he could catch up later. I remember his chuckling about everyone wanting him to take care of school first. He was surprised that we wanted to pay him because we understood the costs associated with school. He was a gentle and sensitive soul. My gosh his work ethics were superior and it was important to him that jobs were completed. I spent 10 minutes convincing him that he could finish once he got settled in. Again, I'm truly sorry. My prayers are with you, your son, and family members.
