“WOW!!! Where do I start to share memories and information about my dear father-in-law that treated me as one of his own. There is not enough time nor space on the page to say it all. Charles T. Kelley, Sr. thank you so much for giving me your son, the man I love. He is who he is today because of the kind of man you raised him to be. As a result of you giving him to me, I am very proud and honored to have given you the opportunity to be the best grandpa in the world. Conner always had a special bond with you because he was your first grandchild. I know this bond because I had it with my own grandmother. I am grateful to you for creating that great bond with Conner. He loved spending time with you. He appreciated all the information and little things that you taught him, but most of all he loved the time you dedicated to making those special breakfasts for him and always having Fruit-by-the-Foot in your jacket pocket for him. I have tried so hard to make my pancakes just like yours but could never quite get them as good as yours in the eyes of Conner and the girls but I am glad that I never mastered that art. My children love you SOOOO much! There is nothing you wouldn't do for them or anyone else. Thank you so much for providing such love, support, and kindness to my family. Taylor shared with us last night that she only has good memories of you. I hope you heard that and understand the happiness that comment brought to Chuck and I. We think the world of you. We are all handling your departure from our lives differently. Rachel found one of the many necklaces that you made for her and put it on. She is currently still wearing it. Taylor is watching over Chuck and I asking if we are okay and making sure that Chuck and grandma is eating enough food. Conner is asking questions like what was grandpa's favorite song so that he can listen to it before each of his running events or basketball games. He will be serving as the co-captain of the cross country team this year and will be deciding what will be printed on the back of the team's shirts. He immediately called the co-captain and asked him if they could have something printed honoring YOU!!!! Thank you so much for the countless hours you have dedicated to my family through your support and love.
Chuck Sr. - as we go into the next few days please give me support to stay strong for my husband and children. You were very loved and will always be remembered. Until we meet again you will always be in our hearts!!!! It takes a lot for your son to be emotional but he is very lost right now. Please give him small signs throughout his life to let him know that you are watching out for him from heaven above!!!!

*With much love,
Vicky*

“ Anyone coming tomorrow: My dad would not want everyone to sit around crying. Please don't be afraid to laugh and have a good time celebrating how much my dad touched everyone. He would want you to enjoy his life and how much he talked about everything to anybody.

“ Uncle Chuck was so full of life and loved sharing either the news or things that he knew and wanted to share with others. Yes, He definitely loved to talk indeed.

Yet, I could listen for hours and learn so much from him as others probably have over the years as well.

He was a wonderful person and always willing to help others in need. This is the only family member that I know that wasn't afraid of assisting with electricity and live wires. Seriously!!!

Not only of his many talents of work man ship. He loved and lived for his family daily. Uncle Chuck set a standard of core family/friend values that is priceless.

He will most definitely be missed here with us. However, his legacy is not forgotten - he has many things to tell/teach those above in heaven now.

Lastly, Thank you Uncle Chuck for being "You" and creating so many fond memories that we get to hold near to our heart until we meet and see you again.

We love you !!!

“ Truly a guy who cared about other people more than himself. He went above and beyond to help whoever needed it. He could fix anything and did for lots of people. I will miss him and never forget him. His love for me, my wife, and my kids was immeasurable. Dad, please know we all love you and you will be severely missed. I am so proud to be your son. Chuck
