“ My Soul , My heart my left-hand . You were always there for me and on this day today I find myself thinking of you much more then usual. I know your proud of me . Im in college for you pursuing my dreams for you. I remember me the girls and Jeffrey went out when it was so cold just to raise you and your family some money for funeral expenses. I was so determined no matter how cold, wet or tired I was , It wasn't about the money, it was about getting a blessing from each and every neighbor that passed by who cared, it was about our friends and the effort we put in because we love you so very much. May you rest in peace .

“ My condolences to this young man's family & girlfriend. This breaks my heart to hear, although I do not know him just his picture alone caught my heart, something about him in general made me read & I'm glad I did. Tragedy is hard to cope however his memory stays alive thru all who knew him & shared them with him. Kno that he is an angel in Heaven whom God felt he needed more? He'll be waiting for loved ones on the streets of Heaven! God Bless
