“ I met Deanna when I worked at the Eiteljorg Museum in 2010 and started taking her to the Eagle Society events. We became good friends and I don't think she ever met and stranger. I will miss her Jersey accent and the refined "former manager at Wanamakers" voice. She was a delightful woman who made me laugh and all were delighted to see her get down and boogie at events. She is at last with her beloved Arnie and all their Keshonds named Dutch.

I swear the last one always knew when I was on the phone making plans to take her somewhere and he would start barking in protest.

Deanna was sharp as a take and quick with a quip. I will treasure memories of our adventures.
