

Deborah A. Mogg

August 7, 1953 - April 19, 2020

Deborah A. Mogg, 66, passed away April 19, 2020. She was born August 7, 1953 to the late George N. and Geraldine Gale. Deborah was a 1972 graduate of North Central High School. She was a bus driver for Hamilton Southeastern School Corporation and a member of ITOWN Church. Her greatest joy in life was all of her grandbabies, whom she lived for. She loved her girls and would drop anything no matter what, for each of them. She truly was such a servant of Christ with the biggest, giving heart of anyone we knew.

Deborah is survived by her loving daughters, Jennifer L. Mogg, Heather L. Thompson, Christy L. Mogg and Lindsay N. Hesemann (Hans); grandchildren, Brooklyn Bayles, Blakely Hesemann, Violet Thompson, Scarlett Hesemann and Nathan; and brothers, Bruce C. Gale (Katherine) and Charles C. Gale (Rebecca). Memorial contributions are suggested to the American Diabetes Association. Final care and arrangements are entrusted to Shirley Brothers Fishers-Castleton Chapel

“ I am so very sorry for your loss. Debbie was in my Girl Scout troop and we went through school together. She always had a quick smile and contagious laugh. In these especially trying times my prayers are with you all.

“ I am fortunate that I met Debbie at the memory care facility where she intermittently worked for a resident and where my wife was a resident. Always cheerful and a wonderfully compassionate lady, she brightened my day whenever I encountered her and we quickly developed a deep friendship. I am sorry she was taken so quickly but I am assured she is finally free of her miseries in heaven. God bless her family and give them peace.

“ I remember Debbie from our friendship at Northview Christian Life. She had the most beautiful girls which she loved so much. What an example of always wanting to grow in her relationship with Jesus. Debbie will greatly missed

Many memories together at the lake house. Deb was a "good egg" as mom used to say! We used to laugh, boy did we used to laugh!
