“ My mother Doris Lee Campbell, my mom was my inspiration, her along with my dad noted how much I was interested in the space program back in the mid to late 60's as mankind reached outer space and the Moon. They bought me model rockets, watched (and ran away at times from them) and allowed me to visit the Kennedy Space Center in April 1969. There I saw the Apollo 10 and Apollo 11 Saturn V rockets in the VAB, we also got to witness Neal and Buzz practicing moon walks in Hangar S at the Air Station. My dream job from that day forward was to work on real rockets. That dream finally came true in July 2002 and is continuing to this day. God bless you Mom and Dad, I am forever grateful for your love, raising me to be an honest humble man and for the support over the years as Dawn and I raised our 3 boys Joe, Josh and Jason.

“ It was always a joy to have Doris in Chicago when she visited dear Brenda. She celebrated her birthday a few years ago at my place and in better years was engaged with all the city's activities, when she was here. It was a pleasure to know her and my heart goes out to all of you, especially to Brenda, in your loss. She lived a full and inspiring life. God bless you all. Love, Nancy Baird

“ Losing Doris was almost like losing our Mom again. She was always there for me from my early memories and throughout my adulthood. i know she is with her beloved husband and all our our family who have gone before her into our Father's realm. What a joyous reunion must be taking place. I have always loved her and I always will.
