“ I will always remember every time you came by, hearing your sweet voice say, Oh, Aunt Tammy, or even, isn't that right Aunt Tammy. Knowing I'd have your side if you were right. I'll miss seeing that contagious smile of yours, and the very long conversation we had. This was like your second home, babies just running around playing with the pups, and me telling you, Sis, they're fine. That's why Aunt Tammy leaves the toys out. Even on my worst days, you always made me smile. Your phone calls just to say hi, or to tell me everything will get better. You loved with all of your heart, and you were loved by so many. All of your kids will know exactly how much you loved them. I will make sure of that. You loved not just your own, but all the children you became a momma to. I'll tell them about our talks. About how you said each and every single one held a piece of your heart. That you were blessed to be a mother to them all. I will do everything in my power to make sure the good is known, because regardless of anything you said to yourself you were here for a reason. To love unconditionally. You did exactly that. I will see you again one day. Until then, I'll cherish the times we had. The hugs, and kisses, and especially your sweet voice saying... Isn't that right Aunt Tammy. Give my son a kiss, and tell everyone you miss them all. I will see them when my book is complete. I love you. For her parents Karen, Curt & Tom, Tina all the siblings, and everyone else.. I am here if you need me. For all of her children please know she always talked highly of you. She loved you. To the moon and back. Our last words to each other was... It's never goodbye it's until I see you again. That will never change.

“ So many memories! Remember this cute little girl coming over, mouth going a mile a minute. Saying she was our new neighbors. AJ took to her right away, she melted our hearts. Next day brought over her little brother (Curtis), she was so proud of him. And the rest was history. Rest In Peace little girl with the contagious smile! You will always be loved and remembered!!! 💕 Prayers for your family!

“ This is truly a sorrowful time for the whole family. With tears I send my love to all of you. Eliza was loved very much by her parents and her siblings. Her children and her entire family. She was bigger than life and had a personality to match. Always carrying a baby on her hip. She adored her children. RIP Sweetheart!❤️
Much love from Uncle Steve and Aunt Pam.
