“ I saw Mark at the Cigar Box today and when I offered my condolences and said I was sorry that I could not attend Georges funeral because my brother had suffered an unexpected sudden death and his funeral was at the same time Mark was unaware of my brother’s death and I realized that Pam and the rest of the family would not know that either. So I was looking for a way to express to George’s family how much his friendship meant to me. I hope this vehicle will suffice. While I enjoyed George’s bravado and ND and Cathedral fanaticism I truly enjoyed discussing more serious topics from politics to religion with him both at the Box and on our basketball trips to the X v Butler basketball games. He had a wonderful intellect and a compassion for others. I will miss my friend. But I thank God for giving me the opportunity to have George Speckman as my friend. My sincere condolences. “ I will miss spending time with George, attending Cathedral football games with him on Friday nights, and sitting together at high school basketball games. I will miss his frequent calls at home and work to discuss upcoming games. Most of all, I will miss his decency and humanity. George never had a bad word for anyone and wondered why we couldn't all get along as fellow humans.

It was a sad day a couple of months ago when he called to say he had been in pain, had gone to the doctor, and had been told he had cancer throughout his 68-year-old body. He concluded the brief conversation by saying I was among the people he wished he had gotten to know better. That was a poignant reminder that we do not have much time to make a difference before our "homegoing" as some of my friends refer to death into life.
