“ My Dad James William Holtz... Forever my guiding light and the song in my heart that carries me through life. He will be with me always even reaching out and touching me from Heaven above. My Dad was a man who loved deeply but showed it in subtle ways. I remember so many valuable life lessons my Dad taught me as I sit and reflect on the man who gave me life. Lessons at the time I didn't even realize were shaping me into the person I am today. He is such an integral part of who I am today and I feel I am a better person for having him as my father. To know the unconditional love I received from my Dad and to have that safe and warm place always in my heart is a gift far greater than any worldly possessions I could ever imagine. It is something that just cannot be described adequately in words. He along with my Mother Myra brought me into this world and in so doing gave of his life so that I could soar in my own life. I would visit Dad in his later years as his health was failing and every single time he would ask about how I was doing and how family members were doing. Even though he was the one who was in declining health his concerns were about his loved ones well-being. He worried so much about my Mother and about her welfare. I tried to do my best to ease his mind and let him know that I would do my best to take care of Mom and keep her safe and secure. I believe he went to Heaven knowing he left a piece of himself with us all that gave us the strength to carry on and also that he could move on with his mind and soul at ease as he left this world to join loved ones in Heaven. He never stopped being my Dad and caring about my well-being as his child even as his health and body failed him. I as well as those who spent their days around him saw this kind soul and caring man shining through his frail and failing body. Nothing can ever ever replace being able to physically reach out and receive a loving touch or smile from my Dad but that love does carry on even beyond the boundaries of this world. Every cell in my body is so ingrained with loving memories and life lessons that nothing will ever truly separate me from my Dad because I can feel him so near in my heart.

Love you Dad,
Your forever daughter Linda

*(or as you so jokingly would call me as a child "Windot Sue")
Carry on Dad and rest easy...*
