

Jane Richardson

January 19, 1929 - June 25, 2018

Jane Richardson, 89, of Indianapolis, passed away June 25, 2018. She was born January 19, 1929 in Fairland, IN, to the late Dewey and Lucille Kirby. Jane was a graduate of Clark Township High School. She was in the tourism industry, working for Russ Alan Travel, Indiana National Bank Travel Department, Carmel Travel and Grueninger Tours. Jane was a member of Holy Spirit Catholic Church and a volunteer for Community Hospital East. She was an avid bowler, Colts and Cubs fan, but most of all enjoyed spending time with family and friends. Visitation will be Friday, June 29, 2018 from 1:00 p.m. until the time of service at 2:00 p.m. at Shirley Brothers Irving Hill Chapel, 5377 E. Washington St. Jane is survived by her children, Diane McClure, Lisa (Craig) Edgar and Jeff (Toni) Richardson; grandchildren, Josh (Aly) Richardson, Jeremy (Sarah) Anderson, Jennifer (Jason) Childers, Becky (Jameson) Alsman, Michelle (Cody Riggs) McClure, Justin (Jackie) Richardson and Chelsea Richardson; 12 great-grandchildren and one on the way. Jane was preceded in death by her brother, William Kirby; and a granddaughter, Courtney Richardson. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

“ I remember ( down at Uncle ILewis and Aunt Ethel's when they lived up on the knob above Patton Lake outside Martinsville ) sitting in the middle room where the cast iron coal stove set along with the old upright piano. Jane played "Red Sails In The Sunset" on the old upright and I thought it was beautiful. That had to be in the very early 1950's./ And as I recall, few if any of the keys stuck on the piano (remarkable). And of course it was followed by a selection of "Go Tell Aunt Rhody ". . . . . ? . . . . . performed by yours truly. Yes, I do remember it well . . . Cousin, Dave

“ She was my rock my shoulder to go to when I needed a shoulder to cry on or just needed a hug. There a huge hole in my heart and my life that will never be full again
She loved her family first and foremost and loved ALL her grandbabies and greatgranbabies. It brought us such Joy to see her face light up at family gatherings when she got to spend time with us all. Mom you will be truly missed. RIH Love you!
