“ Jean & Larry were the very first people we met in 1965 when we moved to Indianapolis. The husbands became friends at their new CPA firm. That meeting was the beginning of a lifetime friendship. I have many many fond memories of being with Jean. She knew how to throw fabulous parties & always introduced us to the latest music. Without Jeanie our group would have known nothing about popular music. The 4 of us took several road trips together because she had a huge fear of flying for many years. They were always an adventure. We even lived together for a few weeks when they moved back from Evansville. Little Jill was with them & our girls introduced her to sugar much to Jean's rightful consternation. As we matured she & I coincidentally became fond of puzzles & had many happy hours putting them together. I've missed her for several years and am relieved that she is finally at peace. Thank you Jill for all you did for your mom. You've been a devoted wonderful daughter.
