

Joyce R. Malone Scoggins

April 23, 1930 - February 6, 2010

79, of Cumberland, passed away February 6, 2010. She was born April 23, 1930 in Rossville, GA, to the late Paul L. and Ella Mae (Barnett) Malone. Joyce graduated from Rossville High School in 1947. In the 1960s she was involved with community theater in Greensboro, North Carolina, starring in the play The Women. She married Jack M. Scoggins, and was employed with RCA for 12 years. She was a member of the Cumberland Town Board for 4 years, the Franklin Road Church of Christ, and the Greenfield Community Choir. While living in Richmond, Virginia, she worked for the Baptist Foreign Missions Board. She was an extensive traveler, and her husband, children, and grandchildren, were the joy of her life. Visitation will be Thursday, February 11, 2010, from 4:00 p.m. until the time of services at 7:00 p.m. at Shirley Brothers Washington Memorial Chapel, 9606 E. Washington St. Graveside services will be held Saturday, February 13, 2010 at 2:00 p.m. at Lakewood Cemetery, 325 Greens Lake Road, Rossville, GA. Joyce is survived by her loving daughters, Suzanne E. McCarty (David), and Libby L. Belcher (James); grandchildren, Lauren and Sean McCarty, Nicholas J. and Thomas R. Belcher. Her loving husband, Jack M. Scoggins, and brother, Garnett Malone, preceded her in death. Memorial contributions may be made to the Arthritis Foundation Indiana Chapter and/or the American Lung Association.