“ You were one of the most caring people anyone could ever ask for you always wanted to make sure everyone around you was taken care of and you got joy out of the simple things which is A rare quality these days I will never forget at Christmas you called Jeff to make sure I was going to be with him because you wanted to give me A christmas gift and it was A christmas sweater and you smiled so big when you gave it to me and everytime you saw me you would ask if I had worn it yet I will forever cherish that sweater. I am forever grateful that in my life I was lucky enough to have someone like you in it and you have left A mark that will never be forgotten and for sure can never be replaced. God speed I know your in Heaven teaching them how things are done. Much Love

“ I will long remember her devotion to her feline companions, her constant curiosity and love of science! Her insights in teaching and interhuman connections was often uncanny. She will be missed.
