“ Aunt Dockie, as we called her, was beloved. In childhood, there are wonderful memories of Uncle Stan, Aunt Dockie and Steve visiting. She was always so warm and loving. Over the years, we lived further apart, but she was a faithful correspondent, never forgetting a birthday or a holiday. She loved her weekly routines, seeing Steve and Elaine and others, going to church and, until recent years, singing in the choir. Although she lost her dear Stan, her mobility and struggled with health problems, you would never hear Aunt Dockie complain. She was always concerned for others. One of her many beautiful qualities. I will dearly miss my Aunt Dockie!

“ I felt as if I knew Marian before I'd ever met her. After hearing so much about her for years, I basically invited myself along on a lunch with Steve and our friend Liz just so that I could finally meet Marian. And she lived up to the legend! What a delight! Marian was so bright, warm, caring, and funny. She was always impeccably dressed with perfectly coordinated jewelry. And oh, those stories! She had so many wonderful stories and memories to share. I am just so fortunate to have gotten to know her. It was definitely my pleasure and privilege to share those moments with her and she will be forever missed. So sorry for the greatest of losses, Steve.
