

Marjorie Jackson

May 1, 1928 - May 11, 2020

Marjorie Jackson,

92, of Indianapolis, passed away peacefully on May 11, 2020. She graduated from Howe High School, and after the end of WWII, she married the love of her life, her late husband.

Marjorie was an avid gardener and enjoyed her little piece of heaven in her back yard. She was also a traveler with many trips to the western United States, her favorite being Wyoming, where she was transcended into a simpler life, traveling by covered wagon and horses. Marjorie also had the passion of photography and took many classes to hone her skills. Marjorie taught Sunday school at the United Methodist Church.

Marjorie drove a school bus and later a city bus for Indianapolis Metro where she was the first to drive the Trolley and first to drive the articulated buses. She was fearlessly independent in all that she tackled and stood up for the rights of children, animals and the elderly.

Marjorie loved learning her entire life. She spent countless hours researching genealogy. Also a ferocious reader of non-fiction, she enjoyed sharing good books and articles with friends and family and having long conversations about Indianapolis and United States history over a cup of coffee. She learned Southern cooking from her mother-in-law and always brought a hand-made dish to every gathering.

Marjorie met monthly for lunches with friends she grew up with in Irvington.

She also remained in contact with her fellow Sunday school teachers and bus drivers. The most important thing in her life was God, whom she introduced to her three children and five grandchildren.

At Marjorie's request, no service was held. Memorial donations may be made to the Humane Society of Indianapolis and/or the Children's Bureau of Indianapolis.
