“ I remember Mark as a skinny kid, my friend's younger brother, that was always on the periphery...as younger brothers are. As an adult we visited just a few times over phone, and I was struck by his rich voice and jovial sense of humor. His family is proud of his strong work ethic and brave spirit, and rightly so. We are sending the Sullivan family prayers, and wish we could help with the healing.

“ Although I did not have the pleasure of getting to know Mark, I am glad I have been able to meet his parents, sisters and nieces. The Sullivans are a lovely bunch and the wonderful posts about Mark's character and life bring me joy. In his face, I see strong resemblances to his family, and I know his smile and fun-loving spirit will live on through them. My heart is with you all and I pray for God's peace and comfort today and in the times ahead. P.S. A grove of trees will be planted in Washington forests in Mark's honor.
