“*Dr. Strange taught me a lot more than surgery!
He taught me to love and care for my family and never apologize for putting them before all else when needed.*

He taught me to speak out and act on behalf of patients with limited resources who were unable to care for themselves.

He taught me the prayer of serenity: “God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, Courage to change the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference.”

He taught me to embrace change and technology with the work he did for Franciscan Alliance after his retirement from the practice of surgery.

He even tried to teach me to shop on line when he told me how he bought a car on eBay!

Dr. Strange was a true and faithful servant. He was an ambassador, always bearing witness to the wonderful work of the Sisters of St Francis.

As he told me on many occasions, I will forever be grateful that my path crossed that of Dr. Paul Strange.

Thank you.

“ I remember going to a family funeral and there was Paul. Someone told me that he had been helping out with the family expenses. Very nice! I remember going as a kid to Paul's graduation from the Airforce. I was always so proud to be related to him. All of the brothers were so smart! Patty Zorman

I loved seeing you ,Paul. You were the last connection in this world to my Dad. The eyes, the soft voice and the other mannerisms that you were probably not aware of that that you were not aware of that reminded me of Dad.

The last time I saw you was in the hospital. I came in and asked you how are you. Instead of laughing at my stupid question, you proceeded to explain how you were. You explained when you were diagnosed, all the treatments you had gone through, your new chemotherapy and how it worked in the body.

Always the consummate teacher just like Our Dad. Patty Z

“ We all knew Dr. Paul S. Strange to be the consummate professional and general surgeon. I recall also his hobbies; he loved to travel (I believe he visited all 7 continents), he was an avid reader-with a keen interest in everything from art, to history, to physics (including string theory). He was incredibly humble and thankful for his blessings. Thus ends an era. Chivalry has died.

“ I had the opportunity to work with Dr. Strange and the IUPUI Engineering students on a Process Improvement Project this past spring. He was an awesome mentor and in many ways the Patriarch of Quality here at St. Francis. He believed in providing the best care possible to patients and using lean methodology to ensure sustainability of healthcare. I knew him only briefly but his impact on my life and how I look at process improvement will be forever changed.

You have my deepest condolences.

“ I loved working with Dr.Strange ...the man was amazing ...Jim Gray was right when he said Dr. Strange didn't want you to anticapte him..the trick was to keep the instrument out of his vision..kinda hard to do cause he had eyes in the back of his head ...he will be missed by all those who knew him and worked with himanother Beech Grove friend and co-worker...Jr

“ As a nurse, I was always impressed by Dr. Strange's kind, gentle demeanor with patients & their families, as well as hospital personnel. I always knew, whether during a busy day or in the middle of the night, that if I had to call him about a patient, I would be treated with kindness and respect. He patiently answered questions and eagerly explained. When needing a surgeon for myself, my son, & my father, we knew we were in the BEST of hands with Dr. Strange. He was a blessing to many, and he will be missed. May he rest peacefully in Heaven. Our prayers and sympathy are with his family.

“ Dr. Strange would always stop me and asked how I was doing..loved that smile he would get when he got tickled at something you said or did..he made my years in surgery exciting. I remember when we were first learning about lasers we would be using in surgery and he was so patient and understanding of our concerns. Proud to have known this amazing man. RIP Dr. Strange....

“ Dr Strange is the reason I work in surgery today. He was an inspiration to me as a young nurse just starting out. I was working on the floor of St Francis Hospital when he would make rounds. He was always very personable and patient with the newbies. He said a word for me in surgery and that opened the door to the future for me. I enjoyed working with him in surgery. He never wanted to be out guessed as to what instrument he was going to want so he would look and see what you had in your hand and ask for something else. Always made me chuckle. Rest in peace Dr. You were very well admired by all. Jim Gray-Walter R.N.

Dr. Paul Strange was a great surgeon and an admirable man. He never forgot his humble beginnings on the Eastside of Indianapolis. He believed there were two kinds of surgeons, those that were gifted and those that had to work to be great. He believed he was the latter. I believe he was a great man first and a well respected surgeon admired by many of his peers. He loved to teach and never stopped seeking knowledge himself. I will miss you my friend and co worker. I was a new nurse in 1969 in surgery at Methodist Hospital. And I met Dr Strange.....it was the Vietnam era....here was a dr that mentioned flying planes....in 1974 I worked on the floor at St Francis....again Dr Strange. And after living in at St Louis, I worked St F OR in 1983...and Dr Strange remembered me. Like Jim, Dr Strange was instrumental in helping me obtain my weekend option job. A gentleman, a teacher, and a man who deserves a rest.....others should emulate him.

Dr. Strange was the first person I met at St Francis. I was blessed to work with him for almost 10 years, bringing quality and systems improvement concepts to Franciscan Health. He mentored me in the intricacies of healthcare, as I shared concepts of Six Sigma, systems theory and analyses. He was a true renaissance man, accomplished in so many fields, always learning and teaching, and ever kind and compassionate with everyone. His leadership will be greatly missed. His friendship will be missed even more.

Dr. Strange and Judy were a huge part of my brothers life. His son Bill and my brother were best friends and Paul and Judy took my brother in as an extended part of their family. Then came along the next generation and of course== they took on my nephew as well. Cannot express how much I appreciate the love and kindness you bestowed to my brother and his son. I also felt welcome and loved by you both and Tom and Jenny any time we were together. I already and always will miss Paul. He was a great and gentle soul.
