“ Dear brother, how can I even put into words how badly it hurts loosing you because there is no words that could ever describe the pain in my heart. You was my hero. The only brother I had. The one that always looked out for me. I just don't know what to say. I'm at loss for words. How do I go on without you? Sometimes, life isn't fair but I have to keep faith that God has a much bigger plan for you. Rest Easy dear Brother. I love you so much.

“ So sorry Kelly for your loss. You and Keith made a life together that had a lot of love in it. I never got to meet Keith but I was told how happy he made you. I am so happy you had him in your life. I heard a lot about what a very nice man he was. Every one that met him became his friend. I know he valued his friends. I have heard you on the phone with your mother and the both of you would be laughing and playing. So I know how much he had changed your life. Remember all those good times you both had together. Just remember he will always be with you. He will be watching out for you because that is what he does for those he loves.

“ Kelly, Curtis and I are so sorry to hear of your loss. We loved you both and got to know both of you well during our many drives to and from church. I know that Keith would not want you to be sad for him....he would want you to strive to continue in your walk with God so that you can be reunited some day. We can not imagine the pain you are going thru, but know that we are praying for you, and that God can give you Peace like no other. Love you dearly, and if you need us, give me a call. “ My heart goes out to my daughter Kelly. She deeply loved her husband Keith and through all the pain and struggles they had, the two made a life together if only for a short time. Keith was good to her and did the best that he knew how, to care for her under all the unfortunate circumstances that life threw at them. I will miss your smile and most of all the deep hearted laugh that you had that always made me laugh. You dear Keith, will now finally get the much needed peace and comfort that you so badly needed REST IN PEACE DEAREST KEITH!!!!!! Love, Sandy
