Steve was more than a cousin to me. He was my church buddy, prayer buddy, joke buddy, memory buddy, and one of my best friend buddies. We had so many great times...I think going through the car wash with Crystal and Steve is one of my favorites!!! Or maybe shopping at Goodwill? There are just so many sweet memories of my brother, myself, Mike and Steve from our childhood that there is not enough space or time to tell them all. The greatest blessing I get right now is knowing that Steve was right with God. Our last conversation happened at the altar after service. He said to me that he was so happy that my family had come back to God. He was so happy about that. He told me that all the time. So, dearest Steve, we will meet again, and once again rejoice that we knew Jesus. I am praying for all of the family.
