Just a note to our friends during our time of loss. Given the current state of concern and confusion regarding COVID-19, we want you to know that we appreciate your sympathy and support at this time. We also want to remind you that there are multiple ways to express your support without actually being in attendance during a period of visitation and service. By sending a card or note, signing the on-line register book, making a donation to our charity of choice, or sending a floral arrangement, these efforts remind us of your friendship and sympathy and we appreciate all of them. Let's do our part in getting through these very difficult times safely.
